INDIANA UNIVERSITY
PRESIDENT'S OFFICE

470

Bloomington, Indiana,
January 14, 1920.

Dear Sir:

This is the hundredth anniversary of the passage of the law by which Indiana University was founded. Since this is almost, if not quite, the oldest of the State Universities we wish not only to celebrate our centenary but to arrange an occasion when eminent men may say from one or another point of view what the State University is and is to be and is to do. We plan a conference from May 5th, 6th and 7th to which the Universities will be invited to send representatives.

The topic for May 7th is The Spiritual Ideal of the University. We invite you along with two or three other eminent men to speak on this topic in any way that appeals to you. We sincerely hope that you will accept.

Very truly yours,

W S Bryan.

President W. L. Bryan, LL.D.,
Bloomington, Indiana.

My dear President Bryan:

Your kind letter has just reached me and I thank you for th invitation. The occasion is so important that I cannot do otherwise than accept the invitation. It will enable me also to fulfil a long desired opportunity to visit the University of Indiana. With anticipations of great pleasure and with the hope that the occasion will be to you one of great satisfaction and advantage to the University at large, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Bloomington, Indiana,
April 6, 1920.

My dear President Falconer:

I have sent you a copy of the tentative program of our Centennial Educational Conference. There will be a number of additions and other changes. I am sure that the Conference will be one of great value.

We should be glad to know the date and hour of your arrival either in Indianapolis or in Bloomington. I hope you will be able to attend the dinner in Indianapolis.

We look forward with pleasure to your coming.

Very truly yours,

William Lowe Bryan.

President H. Lowe Bryan,
Indiana University,
Bloomington, Ind.

My dear President Bryan:

I have this morning returned from a fortnight's absence in Western Canada and hasten to answer your kind letter of April 6th.

First of all with regard to the subject of my address, I am sorry that I had nothing definite to give you, but as you asked me some time ago to speak on "The Spiritual Ideal of the University", and that title has been placed on your tentative programme, I will try to prepare an address in line with this text.

I am rather at a loss as to when I should go to the Conference. I am afraid that my time will not permit me to be with you for the three days. If I could arrive in Bloomington about noon on Thursday I could stay until the end of the Conference of course. I think therefore that you may assume this tentatively as the time of my arrival until I have been able to get more definite information as to trains. Would you let me know what line of railway would be the most convenient for me to take in getting to Bloomington ?

I have just received an invitation from Professor and Mrs. Bates to stay with them and have much pleasure in accepting it. Again thanking you for your kind invitation and with the anticipation of much pleasure from my visit,

I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dear President Bryan:

It is very kind of you to ask me as to reprints of my address. Would it be too much for you to send me a dozen ?

At the same time am I asking too much if I request a dozen of the reprints of the address made by Dean Pound on Legal Education ? I should like to distribute them to some lawyers.

I look back with the greatest pleasure to my visit. Your kindness I cannot forget, and I congratulate you on the very nice order of the proceedings.

I hope that Mrs. Bryan is keeping better.

Yours sincerely,

President.
